

The Mess created by Programmers Mapping Keys to Commands: 1981 Apple DOS.

User Thinking: Every command is a WORD which I can SPELL on the keyboard.

Programmer Thinking: Every command is a KEY which the user has to learn by heart.

Note that the Keys are listed Alphabetically

Menuindex with Limitations

Bold - LIMITATION Not Available

C...

- cArriage Return display toggle
- cOvert Apple Writer 1.1 Files
- cTri characters as text

D...

- dAta line Toggle
- dOs Commands

Erase Memory

Glossary File Load

Italic - LIMITATION Not Available

Limitations

- Auto
- Hide
- Show

Menuindex

- Advanced
- Beginner
- Power User

Paragraph Insert / Delete toggle

Print...

- Menu
- Program / Value...
- Load
- Save

Quit Apple Writer

Replace options

S

- sAve File
- sHift Key Toggle
- sPlit screen Toggle

Tab File...

- Load
- Save

Tab settings

Underline - LIMITATION Not Available

Word...

- Insert / Delete
- Wrap toggle

Irrelevant Keystrokes

- 6
- 9
- V
- 8
- O
- N
- 5
- X
- P
- 3
- 4
- 0
- R
- S
- 7
- Y
- 1
- 2
- T
- W
- Z

APPLE WRITER REFERENCE CARD

Keystroke → Function

- N Erase Memory
- O DOS Commands
- P Print Menu
- Q Additional functions menu
- R Replace edit mode
- S Save
- T Tab set/clear/purge
- V Ctrl characters as text
- W Word delete or insert
- X Paragraph delete or insert
- Y Split screen toggle
- Z Word wrap toggle

ADDITIONAL FUNCTIONS MENU

- 1 Load Tab File
- 2 Save Tab File
- 3 Load Print/Program Value File
- 4 Save Print/Program Value File
- 5 Load Glossary File
- 6 Toggle carriage return display
- 7 Toggle Shift Key Option (ESC/SHIFT)
- 8 Toggle Data Line Display
- 9 Convert Apple Writer 1.1 Files
- 0 Quit Apple Writer

Look at the mess the USER has to sort out!

Menuindex is a development of the mature 4,300 year old technology called the Dictionary!

